The Rainy Day Playbook

When the afternoon storm rolls in, here's how to keep your day going.

HOW RAIN WORKS

Light rain? Most rides keep running; you might just get wet. But when lightning is nearby, outdoor rides close until it clears, and the Skyliner and outdoor shows can pause too. Indoor and covered attractions keep going. Storms usually pass within an hour.

BEST PARKS WHEN IT POURS

EPCOT

Nearly everything's indoors. Test Track is the main ride that minds the rain. Duck into The Land, The Seas, or the World Showcase pavilion films.

HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS

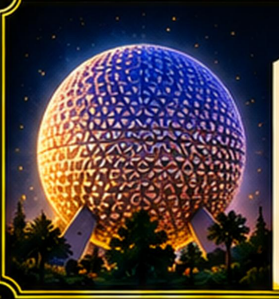

Most headliners are indoors: Rise of the Resistance, Tower of Terror, Rock 'n' Roller Coaster, Runaway Railway, Star Tours, Smugglers Run, Toy Story Mania. Slinky Dog Dash is the big one that closes.

RAINY-DAY MOVES

Pack ponchos, not umbrellas. Umbrellas are a pain in queues.

A downpour thins the crowds, and indoor waits often drop. Use it.

If a Lightning Lane ride closes for weather, it usually turns into a pass you can use on another ride. Check My Disney Experience.

Storms peak in the early afternoon. The classic midday break rides right through them.
